

Invasive Rock Snot - Didymo

Last Updated Thursday, 24 September 2009

As you may be aware NH waters are now being infected with a new invasive specie commonly called didymo identified by NH Fish and Game at:
http://www.wildlife.state.nh.us/Fishing/Didymo_invasive.html

Didymo is easy to spread by the unaware angler, boater, swimmer to list but a few recreational groups. Outreach to such people to inform them of this problem and how to not spread this to other bodies of waters is of utmost of importance especially this time of year. Please review the information available at the link above so that you can recognize Didymo when you see it and avoid spreading it from river to river. Thank you!
